NEWS AND INFORMATIONAFGHAN REFUGEE DONATIONS STILL NEEDED

Riverwood Community Church, 5343 Hwy 19 Blvd, Cannon Falls

Thank you to those of you who donated items for our first drop off last weekend for the Afghan refugees! It was successfully delivered to Fort McCoy, near Tomah, Wisconsin.

We have been amazed at the number of community people who have gotten involved or want to be involved in this effort. We plan to go again and have another drop off deadline of Sunday, October 3rd, after church.

Following is an updated list of needs for the refugees. At this time, they are not wanting blankets. Thank you to those of you who have asked!

- Loaves of bread
- Jam for the bread. (But it needs to be jam made only from fruit, sugar, citric acid/fruit pectin. No Jelly which contains gelatin/pork by-products.)
- Big bags of sugar
- Tea (black, green, chai)
- 2 liter (8 cup) electric tea pots (most commonly found are 1.7 liter, which works)
- Winter boots all sizes
- New or VERY gently used winter coats, jackets, scarves, hats, gloves are needed. All sizes.
- New or VERY gently used women's scarves for head coverings, can be regular scarves, but warmer ones are needed.
- New or very gently used shoes of all sizes. (Probably no spiked heels)
- New or VERY gently used, clean, modest, Fall type clothes. All sizes. They especially need baby clothes-newborn to size 2, and undergarments. Skirts for women should be below the knee, to ankle, in length.
- New or VERY gently used children's toys
- Personal hygiene items: bars of soap (no liquid), shampoo, deodorant, towels, toothpaste/toothbrushes, shower Shoes, feminine hygiene products
- Back-packs with "school supplies" for children and also backpacks for teens and college age
- Plastic bags with handles for passing out donations to families, such as large Target or Cub Food grocery bags

To be of more help to those that are passing out the donations to the refugees, we would like to sort clothes by size and gender. So, we will put the clothing items under the coat racks. Please place clothing items in the designated bins.

Thank you once again for your help! If you have any questions, contact Deb Pranke (651-460-2647).

The reality of "social distancing" was that we learned Human Connections matter more than ever. All opportunities come from people, and those who understand how to make, grow and keep their business relationships find success in all economic situations.
People choose to do business with those they know, like, and trust, all things being equal. But not all relationships in your business or personal life are created equally. Alike, link, share, or follow is not necessarily a powerful engagement.

The contacts with whom you build long-term and mutually beneficial relationships that impact your life are rare. These "Uncommon Connections" can be cultivated and should be cherished. This presentation is an action-packed look at creating business friendships, building trust, and creating unlimited opportunities.

- November 9th: Cultural Sensitivity for the Accidentally Insensitive presented by Shannan Paul.
- January 11th: The Power of Hospitality in Leadership, Business and Life presented by Taylor Scott.
- February 8th: No Budget? No Problem! Digital Marketing Moves to Make Now That Get the Most Bang for Your Nonexistent Bucks presented by Shelia Scarborough.

Ann Kim will develop a unique booyah recipe (a traditional, thick stew served at fundraisers and community events in the upper Midwest), that can be sampled at most performances.

The show will feature a troupe of performers traveling in a food truck in search of the recipe that once made Arla Mae famous. The show is created, directed, and performed by Sarah Agnew and features local performers Jim Lichtscheidl (Guthrie, Jungle, Ten Thousand Things), Elise Langer (Ten Thousand Things), Oogie Push (New Native Theater, Full Circle), and Eriq Nelson ("The Dude," Minneapolis Children's Hospital). The set design is by Nick Golfis (Guthrie Theater), with original music by Eric Jensen (the Moving Company).
